QUALITY POLICY STATEMENT

CHT Australia Pty Ltd is a manufacturer and a distributor of processing chemicals and allied products for the manufacturing industry

Our objective is to provide our customers with chemicals, chemical processes, technical service and new product development, based on the best relevant technology available, on time and to a quality standard that at all times conforms to our customer's requirements.

We will achieve our objective through the implementation and maintenance of our quality system certification to AS/NZS/ISO 9001 and through continual improvement based on the setting and review of measurable quality objectives.

The measure of the success of this policy will be increased sales and acknowledgment from our customers of our value to them as "preferred" supplier.

We are committed to ensuring that our quality system which is the property and responsibility of all employees is understood, implemented and maintained at all levels of the organisation through ongoing training and guidance.
